

GRANITE DATA MINER

#43 SLEEPING THE WINTER AWAY

7

of New Hampshire animals who hibernate all winter.
The New Hampshire hibernating animals are woodchucks, bats, jumping mice, chipmunks, bears, raccoons, and skunks.

Infographic statistics from Eric Orff from "Whats Wild in NH" - <https://www.nhfishandwildlife.com/>

Source: <https://www.nhfishandwildlife.com/>

12

of racoon that can share a den during the winter hibernation.

Source: <https://www.nhfishandwildlife.com/>

50

percent weight that can be lost during the winter hibernation.

Source: <https://www.nhfishandwildlife.com/>

8

number of heartbeat per minute for bats during their hibernation period; a drastic reduction from 210 heartbeats per minute when not hibernating.

Source: <https://www.nhfishandwildlife.com/>

6

months most hibernating animals go without waking up or going to the bathroom. However, bears will give birth in January every other year.

Source: <https://www.nhfishandwildlife.com/>